Goals

Salute endeavors to bring client need and sustainable practices together while making the best green purchasing decisions. The utilization of products which reduce solid waste, conserve water, and protect natural resources is our goal.

Salute is committed to reducing GHG emissions and endeavors to set realistic goals for reduction in 202.

The importance of green purchasing

Salute is dedicated to leading the way in sustainable procurement by consistently integrating innovative green solutions and responsible sourcing practices. We actively seek out products and services that minimize environmental impact, support local communities, and align with the latest industry standards for sustainability. Our commitment is to continuously improve our purchasing decisions, making a positive difference for both our clients and the planet.

Sustainable products include the use of natural resources to fulfill our present needs without affecting the needs of future generations. Consequently, when one considers buying, they should evaluate the adverse environmental impacts associated with the product through its full life cycle.

Effective green purchasing not only promotes environmental benefits but also helps organizational full life-cycle costs and thus saves money. Another benefit of green purchasing is the contribution to Salute's overall Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) strategy.
